

Acme Enterprise Sales Playbook

Field Sales Guide — Fiscal Year 2024

1. Ideal Customer Profile

Acme's ideal customer is a mid-market or enterprise organization with 500 to 10,000 employees, an annual technology budget above $5 million, and a strategic initiative in digital transformation or operational efficiency. Target industries include financial services, healthcare, manufacturing, and professional services.

2. Qualification Framework

We use the MEDDPICC framework for opportunity qualification. Reps must document Metrics, Economic Buyer, Decision Criteria, Decision Process, Paper Process, Identify Pain, Champion, and Competition before an opportunity may progress to Stage 3.

3. Sales Stages

Stage	Name	Exit Criteria
1	Prospecting	Discovery call booked
2	Discovery	Pain identified, decision process mapped
3	Evaluation	Technical validation complete
4	Business Case	ROI approved by economic buyer
5	Negotiation	Redlines exchanged
6	Closed Won	Contract signed

4. Pricing

Standard pricing is $1,200 per user per year for the Professional tier and $2,400 per user per year for the Enterprise tier. Volume discounts of 10 to 25 percent are available at 500, 1,000, and 2,500 user thresholds. Multi-year commitments receive an additional 5 percent discount per year.

5. Competitive Positioning

Our primary competitors are Dataloop, Meridian Systems, and Vector Labs. Key differentiators include our hybrid retrieval architecture, on-premise deployment option, and native integrations with Snowflake, Databricks, and dbt.

6. Common Objections

6.1 Pricing

If pricing is raised as an objection, reframe around total cost of ownership and time-to-value. Our average customer sees ROI within 6 months.

6.2 Security

If security concerns are raised, provide our SOC 2 Type II report, ISO 27001 certificate, and penetration test summaries. Offer to include our CISO in a technical deep dive.

6.3 Integration

If integration concerns are raised, provide reference customers in the same industry and offer a proof of concept with the customer's actual data.

7. Sales Compensation

Account Executives receive a 50/50 split between base and variable compensation. Quota is set annually based on territory potential. Accelerators apply above 100 percent attainment at 1.5x and above 125 percent at 2x.
